Super Symmetry

James Teej

Seeking our path inbetween
While the world spins at twenty degrees
Feeling like half of myself
All alone without somebody else
Forces constrict and unwind
Falling in and out of a lineWe're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and fasterAtoms collapse and collide
Like the time that we met you and I
What is the space inbetween?
To explain our super symmetry
Systems constrict and unwind
Falling in and out of a lineWe're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and faster
We're all moving faster and faster and fasterSystems conform and define
All the pathways between you and I
Forces constrict and unwind
Falling in and out of a lineWe're all moving faster and faster and faster
