I Want A Warning

Idlewild

History is made, not repeated
And you hide behind words
That make you feel needed
And what you read in those books
Made you so conceitedSo, in order for love to be true
My dreams will have to
Become my only rulesI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
I seen through
All your promises and warningsI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
I seen through
All your promises and warningsWake me up on into a world outdated
And the older you get
The more you seem jaded
As you search for the quotes
To make it seem complicatedSo, in order for love to be true
Even my nightmares
Become my only rulesI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
I see through
All your promises and warningsI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
But I've seen through
Every promise is a warningI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
I've seen through
All your promises and warningsI want a warning, I want a warning
I want something more than a warning
I've been warned about you
I've seen through
For a promise of a warning
