Puppet and Soldier

Morning Again

Evision yourself on a pedestal.
A thought you never erased
Causing the picture that you see
To be so easily distorted.
Your world has thought you well
You joined what you were so much against
At least you thoughtPuppet, soldier another clone
Puppet, soldier relieve your hate, relieve your painYou live in a world of fear
One where what's inside is never realizedEach with something special
Never to be shared
An image you created, in the corner of your mind.
That isn't even thereAbility to accept
You mask it with all you learned,
Now comfort yourself you're not like them at allYou live in a world of fear
One where what's inside may never be seen
