I Punish You

Nils Bech

I punish you cause I'm not brave enough to tell you what I long for, to tell you what I long forI punish you cause I'm afraid you won't, I'm afraid that you don't want me, I turn it into angerI punish you cause I'm in love with you, I love you like no other, I love you like no otherAnd your words won't do, it's the touch from you I measure love in, I measure love with
And your words won't do, it's the touch from you I measure love in, I measure love withI punish you as I cast myself and turn into another, a play between two loversI punish you when this play pays off, I reject you out of vengeance, to show you how it feels likeAnd your words won't do it's the touch from you I measure love in, I measure love with
And your words won't do it's the touch from you I measure love in, I measure love with
