These Words

Lost Atlanta

We've been here before,
let you in the cold
how could I be so wrong?
And yet again I need you hear with me,
you're nowhere to be seen.
I scream out in the dark
I hope you hear my voice echo through your bones.
I'm counting down the days
untill you're here with me.
Here with me.I tore us apart, too many times before.
I need you now just give me your heart.How long will this go on?
The constant torture as I fall apart.
I will lie here and wait, until it's you and me.I know I cast the stones that have broke your walls.
I will take time to raise them up.
But brick by brick
I will build them again
and layer them in memories.I tore us apart, just give me your heart.How long will this go on?
The constant torture as I fall apart.
I will lie here and wait, until it's you and me.
I won't falter until I have you.
Oh how I need you.
I will lie here and wait, until it's you and me.All of these words I say explain what you mean to me.
Have I thrown it all away.
