Wonderful World

Katie Herzig

wonderful world that you can waltz into breathing by the open sea the back roads, i think they belong to you drive away until you're freebaby, dont you love your life? you go crazy by the ocean, and wild under the stars at night if you let me follow you you know i would have gone with youlook at all the world that you've seen maybe it's larger than the one that i could ever be you gave all that you had, true and i would take it over any other one that i couldi looked away and you were gone i should have know that it was time for you to move along it seems so very long ago like i dreamed it up and never let it show
