Let Your Baby Go

Erica Rivera

I ain't to young to know that life has its highs and lows and things don't always turn down quite like how i think and though i have much to learn to weather the twists and turns i know i am capable to deal with what life brings meI'm strong, I'm ready to be on my own let me spread my wings let me go don't hold so tight cause i can fly alonei need you to trust me have faith and let me make it on my own please let me your baby goyou've given me courage to be a person of ability you've been my example I've been glad to have youbut your faith is strong {but i know you can see in me i can't stand alone{i can't stand on myn own to feet} don't be afraid to send me{don't you be afraid to send me living i need you to believe in meI'm strong I'm ready to be on my own
let me spread my wings let me go don't hold so tight
cause i can fly alonei need you to trust me
have faith and let me make it on my own please let me your baby goyou gave me everything now i wont come backand i know that i will always have you to lean on when i need tolet me spread my wings let me go don't hold on so tight cause you know that i can fly alonei need you to trust me have faith and let me make it on my own please let me your baby goplease your baby go

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/