Broken Heart

Willamena

I watched the shadows grow long and slowly disappear like watching ice melting into the sun it's just gone, gone, goneI've seen the broken down sidewalks after a hard spring rain I've seen the steam rising up to the sun only to fall back down againHe's got a broken heart
The tears fell like rain
I told myself I'd never feel this pain again cryin' from a broken heartDon't turn your back on me baby don't you run, run, run away don't dig your heels down into my heart and then stomp, stomp, stompI know the story's been told the boy who cried from a broken heart yeah he cried for what could've been then he drove down to the shoreHe's got a broken heart
The tears fell like rain
I told myself I'd never feel this pain again
cryin' from a broken heartBroken heart I saw her across the room floatin' like an angel in the night cryin' from a broken heartThis is the big water now the dark pool that portends It's as deep as a mountain is tall and the sadness never endsA star's a lonely feeling that burned out long ago She thought she saw the sun in his smile but it was gone, gone goneHe's got a broken heart
The tears fell like rain
I told myself I'd never feel this pain again
cryin' from a broken heartBroken heart
I saw her across the room
cryin' from a broken heart
cryin' from a broken heart
cryin' from a broken heart
