Change Your World

Heather Small

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Oh yeah
Change your world
Change your world
YeahYou bear the scars from someone heartless and selfish
Altered your mind 'til you can't see your way
And now you stay 'cos you feel worthless and foolish
Hey girl, don't let him drive you insaneIf you could see your glory
Embrace yourself and all of your beauty
If only you could see your glory
That inner grace, why can't you believe meYou got all of the strength and power
But your picture is not complete
If you can't live this life forever
Better look inside yourself and change your worldChange your world
Yeah
Change your world
YeahWith burning hands he demands night and day
You sacrifice your passion under stress
Don't let those tears you cry, be cried all in vain
Don't loose your soul through your selflessnessIf you could see your glory
Accept yourself and all of your greatness
If only you could see your glory
Follow your dream on to a brighter dayYou got all of the strength and power
But your picture is not complete
If you can't live this life forever
Better look inside yourself and change your worldChange your world
Yeah
Change your world
Change your world
Change your world
Oh yeahKeeps you hanging on with empty words of love
He believes that it's enough
You know in your heart it's less than you deserve

But a change is gonna comeChange your world
Look inside yourself
You've got to change your world, yeah
Change your world
If you could see your glory
You can change, you can change your worldChange your world
Look inside yourself
You've got to change your world, yeah
Change your world
If you could see your glory
You can change, you can change your worldYou got all of the strength and power
But your picture is not complete
If you can't live this life forever
Better look inside yourself and, better look inside yourself and Better look inside yourself and change your world
