Shape

Glasser

I live on the beach
Water surrounding me
And it's got too deep
I let it get too deepMy home has no shape
Nothing to sustain me
But it keeps me safe
From imagined painIn the dim light of the truth all you can do is bowThe walls often change
Undo and displace me
But I know I'll stay
Can't ever get awayWhen the crossing gets too wide then I go home
To the fluctuation I have on my own
And I look out longingly over the beach
There's an ocean making life beyond my reach
And the vastness is too much for me to stand
And by the light of the truth all I can do is bow
