Unless the Lord Builds the House

Keith Green

Unless the Lord builds the house
They labor in vain to try at all
Building anything not according to His call
Unless the Lord wants it done
You better not work another day
Building anything that will stand in His way, ohYou love the lord and it seems like He's been leading You've asked Him to bless all your plans
But are you so sure you're just doing what you want to Building your house on the sand, the sandUnless the Lord builds the house
They labor in vain to try at all
Building anything not according to His call
Unless the Lord wants it done
You better not work another day
Building anything that will stand in His way, ohWorking so hard at the things that you believe in
No one can tear you away
But don't you lose sight of the very one who calls you
You may be sorry some day, some dayFor wood, hay and stubble, will all burn up in the fire
But to love the Lord with all your heart, should be your one desire
Love the LordUnless the Lord wants it done
You better not work another day
Building anything that will stand
Anything that will stand, anything that will standOh where is the love, where is the light?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/