Why Should I Cry

Kay D. Smith

There's a time I felt
I was bless to be loved by you
But those blessings turned to regrets
From all the things you put me throughI remember at night you use to hold me
'Til the sun rosed the next day
But now you sleep and just turn away
While my heart is on display and I sayWhy should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?Why should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?There's a reason why I cry everyday
There's a reason why things don't go your way
There's a reason why I kneel down and pray
There's a reason why I'm still around todayCan't you see that I'm hurtin' eternally?
I need affection and good love therapy
I need you now as an urgent delivery
To get rid of this pain from inside of meWhy should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?Why should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?Why should I put up with lies?
Am I afraid to say goodbye?
I've loved you so, baby, I can't deny
But now it's time to dry my eyesIt's time to think of what was gained
When I feel like it was all in vain
Can we right and fill this wrong?
This heart of mine says just move onWhy should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?Why should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?Why should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"

Why do I say?Why should I cry one more night?
Why should I smile when it hurts inside?
Why will my heart say, "Get up and walk away?"
Why do I say?
