On Through the Storm

Nergard

A spin through the core of illusions
In worlds that are dark as the night
Deep in a dream you'll make it real again
In time you'll now how

Innocent eyes, pale as the skies
A wonder beyond any dream
It's only visions of what could have been
So real, so unreal
You drift in and out of consciousness
It's time to let go

Dreamed you'd be under the rays of a silver lining
And within the light you'd see her smile again
So beautiful

On through the storm
Where tears are falling
Carried in dreams on through the night
Leave me a smile once you fall into the spark of happiness

Cemetery skies, he falls to his knees and silently cries at the side of a lonely grave
I love you
So real, so unreal
You'd give your life to hear her voice again
It's time to let go

Dreamed you'd be under the rays of a silver lining
And within the light you'd see her smile again

On through the storm
Where tears are falling
Carried in dreams on through the night
Leave me a smile once you fall into the spark of happiness

In tears of rage you seal your fate
When reasons are made from simple hate
An empty cradle, a lonely grave
Shattered forever you'll get what you crave

On through the storm
Where tears are falling
Carried in dreams on through the night
Leave me a smile once you fall into the spark of happiness
