Back Street Affair

Van Morrison

You didn't know I wasn't free
When you fell in love with me
And with all your young heart
You learned to careIt brought you shame and disgrace
The world has tumbled in your face
Because they call our love
A back street affairThey say you wrecked my home
I'm a husband that's gone wrong
They don't know the sorrow
That we had to bearWhile the one I was tied to
Was the first to be untrue
How can they call our love
A back street affairWell, we have each other now
That's all that matters anyhow
While the judgment
Of gossips never fairWe'll just be brave and strong
Then someday they'll see they're wrong
So, let them call our love
A back street affairWe'll be free to love someday
When all the talk has died away
And the happiness we hoped for
Then we'll shareAnd I'll climb a mountain high
And the world will hear me cry
That our love is not
A backstreet affair

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/