No Other One

Rachael Lampa

Sing to me beauty, let Your voice lead the way
And in your words I'll find the things I couldn't say
Oh, how I've longed to write a love song just for You
But on my own, I've found it's just another thing I couldn't doWhisper the reason when the sun just hides away
And how do the seasons know exactly when to change
And who on earth could find a language or a line
Or count the ways to best describe the beauty found in Your designNo other one there is just no other like You
No other one there is no one else but You
It's in the way You will the wind to calm the ocean
That's who You are to me and there could never be, another OneSo amazing, kind of crazy but it's true
That my affection is obsession when it comes to you
And let me say, as I am falling on my face
That I am lacking better words but I just write them anywayNo other one there is just no other like You
No other one there is no one else but You
It's in the way You will the wind to calm the ocean
That's who You are to me [Incomprehensible]
And there can never be, another OneNo other one there is just no other like You
No other one there is no one else but You
It's in the way You will the wind to calm the ocean
That's who You are to me [Incomprehensible]
And there can never be, another One
