Only Memories Remain

Dreamshade

And here we are: face to face,telling ourselves what our story has always beenLooking in our eyes we can see our world drawn into dust,a quiet place where we used to go, when we used to be tiedWhy should we look to the clock,and then discover that time consumes our lives?We're here again where the sun hits the seaand the wind caresses the sand, we're taking an oath that we'll forever carry with usYou'll never be alone,and if you'll fall I'll fight for you
'Cause hearts like ours can never be brokenWe have faced battles,we have shown the world the strength of our bond With honest loyaltywe'll show the world what we are made ofThe frozen time will preserve our souls, togetherAnd when all the promises will be broken,when darkness and solitude will oppress you,
I'll be the only one still standinghonoring our blood pact'Cause hearts like ours can never be broken
