Stars

Popium

All the dirt and all the flowers
All the plastic things you always buy
All the days and all the hours
All the time we are, just you and I
All the stars and all the planets
That come before my eyes when you walk by

And I've not seen anything quite like this
No, I've not seen anything quite like this
This must be everything I have missed
'Cause I've not seen anything quite like this

All the cars and trains and buses
Every shape of things that cannot fly
All the fair, and all the kisses
Every single low and every high
All the stars and all the planets
That come before my eyes when you walk by

And I've not seen anything quite like this
No, I've not seen anything quite like this
This must be everything I have missed
'Cause I've not seen anything quite like this
