You, You, You

Rebuker

I remember the shirt I was wearing
And the way I was staring when I saw your face
And how I felt as unstable
As the patio table that September day
And Madonna was playing
From a car that was waiting for the light to turn
And it only took a minute
The love that had me in it and the fire began to burn
It's insane, sane, sane
But I'm standin' in front of a train, train, train
Just to hold your hand
In the pouring rain, rain, rain
Yeah, I'd jump off a cliff, cliff, cliff
Just to kiss your pretty lips, lips, lips
I'd do anything I that gotta do
Just to be with you, you, you
Well, I'd seen you before
A couple times or more, I even called your friend
But when the stars were ready
You were always going steady up there on the fence
And when love came around
My God was never down, I was quick on my feet
And I never would've thought
That I'd ever get caught with my heart on my sleeve

Yeah, I know it's insane, sane, sane
But I'm standin' in front of a train, train, train
Just to water your flowers
In the pouring rain, rain, rain
Yeah, I'd jump off a cliff, cliff, cliff
Just to kiss your pretty lips, lips, lips
I'd do anything I that gotta do
Just to be with you, you, yeah, yeah
Well, I would run every stop sign and I don't care
I will always be the first one there
Just to see that look in your eyes
When you know that you never have to ask, ask me twice
It's insane, sane, sane
But I'm standin' in front of a train, train, train

Just to wash your car
In the pouring rain, rain, rain
Yeah, I'd jump off a cliff, cliff, cliff
Just to kiss your pretty lips, lips, lips
I'd do anything that I gotta do
Just to be with you, you, you
Just to hold your hand
Water your flowers
Just to be with you, you, you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/