Lumps

Chimaira

I feel as if I have been dreaming
I am confused as to how I got here
One minute, I am heading down a path of destructionWith no hopes but for death
Then there was you, you opened me to a different light
The path you lead me down was pricelessWith one quick glance it was stripped
With one quick glance it was stripped from meI was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I never let you be youI was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I never let you be youI've been puking with regret, I found myself again
And although we were apart, I managed to move on Something was still missing
That made me sick, far to familiarI needed you once again, maybe now I can change
Maybe now I can change
With one quick glance it was stripped
With one quick glance it was stripped from meI was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I never let you be youI was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I never let you be youMaybe now I can secure my lumps
Maybe now I can secure my lumps
Maybe now I can secure my lumps
I can secure my lumpsI was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed
I never let you be youI was so, I was so, I was so, I was so
I was so, I was so, I was so, I was so ashamed

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/