In Your Arms

Destine

Slowly, I take the fall
The city lights don't comfort me at all
Show me, can you recall
What got me climbing up the walls
I'm out of patience
I'm still waiting on
A brand new break of dawnWhoa, now we're going underground, and my hands are shaking
Whoa, I can't believe we're going down
I can hear the sirens sound, from way too far
And I'm dying in your arms
In your armsIf only my thoughts were real
I could go back, but time is standing still
In this scene the frames show
I'm losing track and wait,
'Till there's no heartbeat left,
To take me back to
To take me back to youWhoa, now we're going underground,
and my hands are shaking
Whoa, I can't believe we're going down
I can hear the sirens sound, from way too far
And I'm dying in your arms
In your armsIf only I could ever,
Change what's been done
Make it last forever,
Oh, it keeps me warm
I know that I could never Stay in your armsWhoa, now we're going underground,
and my hands are shaking
Whoa, I can't believe we're going down
I can hear the sirens soundWhoa, now we're going underground,
and my hands are shaking
Whoa, I can't believe we're going down
I can hear the sirens sound, from way too far
And I'm dying in your arms
In your armsI'm dying in your arms
I'm dying in your arms
