Real

Chatmonchy

Girl, if you only knew how many times I've reached for you
Every night I'd drift off to sleep and there you would be Reaching for me too, oh but now I don't have to close my eyes
For this dream to come alive
It's real, it's here in my heart
Stronger than steel, brighter than a million stars
Baby you, have shown me how love should feel
Every single touch tells me that this love is real
I guess that I really thought
The thrill would wear off eventually
Oh but still, I can't get enough
I still get a rush when you're close to me

You're the fire burning in my soul and that is how I know
It's real, it's here in my heart
Stronger than steel, brighter than a million stars
Baby you have shown me how love should feel
Every single touch tells me that this love is real
I can't remember ever feeling like this
With every look and every kiss, it's real
Now baby you have shown me how love should feel
Every single touch tells me that this love
Every single touch tells me that this love is real
