The Failsafe

Misery Signals

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Breaking dawn will bring revenge
We should know by now were so sick
It was buiding up and noone was watching
Were running out of darkened corners to sweep the waste into
In our distracted focus noone, noone had a chance when we lined up at the edge, we were opened wide like fools waiting for a sign
It was a freefall
An act of desperation, our backs against the wall
It was a freewall
It was an act of desperation
Down we go
As we all went blind, like an answer to the call of an outstrectched hand
The hell we beckoned crept inside
The vultures, circling over-head, starving to pick the skeletons we leave
On the eve of the end, as the world around us collide, somehow we still beg, we beg
Give us a sign
Dawn brings revenge
Dawn brings revenge
Patience wont mend the broken
Promise of something greater
The cables wrapped around our throat, tonight pitch red casts over
Sense adrift, i lay me down, plague wraps it arms around me
Down We Go
It was a freefall
An act of desperation, our backs against the wall
It was a freefall
It was an act of desperation
Down We Go
When we lined up at the edge, we were opened wide, like fools waiting for a sign

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/