Drawn

Jetset Kravalls

Situations, complications, seem to alter my concentration
Revelation, short vacation, it's too much of an exclamation
I'm not afraid to tell her how I love her more than anything
I'm not nervous to tell her how I love her more than everything.Put my heart out on the line, everytime.
This time I know it is alright.I'm Drawn to her more every day, even though she'll push me away
Impatient as she is I know she can wait
She won't try to change me no, she'll love me for me and I can't feel differently
I won't try to live without her I won't even try
I said I won't tell a lie.I think it's time for me to take responsibility
A love so deep could barely come with-in reality
I'd do anything to make her happy if it would
I'll do anything I can to keep her if I could.Love so free of consequence, am I making sense?
This time I know it is alright
