Sweet Incarnadine

Jane Siberry

And when he came I fell into his deepest eyes
And begged the difference between love and openCome one give your love to me
The first time I leaned over you and looked into your eyes
I said to myself this is what it must be like
To have everything you'd ever want
And a voice inside my head said, "Go"
I amI give you everything
Kaikobad, Kaliere, Pehlev and in-between
Sweet sweet incarnadine, incarnadine
Sweet sweet sweet incarnadine
Come on let your love rain down on me againWhen you said that it would feel like this
The love potion, the razor's edge
The open sesame of the kiss
I swear it was all I felt
I swear it was all I heard
And then, and then we began to prayBless this union, make us whole
Give me strength to let him go
Give us fire and give us flow
To always love like thisThe never idle pressing
Silent confessing
The endless versions of the lonely heart
When we love like we love
And we want like we want
And then we cry like a child
Never like this
Never like this
Never like thisAnd when he came I fell into his deepest eyes
And begged the difference between love and open
