Angel's Hands

Rodney Atkins

She said, Ive been up all night and half-scared to death
I can smell the liquor on your breath
I paid for your rehab with my Ira
Boy, your daddy be turnin' in his graveShe said, Son Ive done all that mama can do
I can save myself but I can't save you
He said, I wished that you and Jesus would get off my back
They said his truck was doing 90 when he crashedI bet it gets so quiet in Heaven sometimes Even God cries when an Angel's hands are tiedThey said, Honey, grown-ups do this all the time
And tears welled up in the little girls eyes
They said, Now it's something that you've done
It just that mommy and daddy don't get alongShe said, Do you guys mean that you need a time out?
And that daddy's gonna move to a different house
They said, You'll have two bedrooms, youre a lucky kid
She said, But what about Checkers, where's he gonna liveI bet it gets so quiet in Heaven sometimes Even God cries when an Angel's hands are tiedShe prays, 'Angels watch me through the night
Stay by my side till mornin' light
God bless mama, God bless daddy
Keep us together and happyI bet it gets so quiet in Heaven sometimes Even God cries when an Angel's hands are tied
