Someone

The Suicide Machines

Oh yeah, I've been running all my life and I face the world alone
When I'm around some people, I wish they'd just go home
Just don't get it is there something wrong with me?
Look inside, maybe then I'll see thatLooking for someone yeah
I'm looking for someone who feels like I do
Looking for someone yeah
I'm looking for someone who feels like I doI've learned to disappear
And I've learned to hide my pain in a fucked-up world
Where there's too much hate
Just don't get it is there something wrong with me?
Look inside maybe then I'll see thatLooking for someone, yeah
I'm looking for someone who feels like I do
Looking for someone, yeah
Looking for someone who feels like I doWell, I think I've gotta find a better way
I think I've got to find a way to make them stay
'Cause everybody's leaving all the time
Everybody's leaving and I don't know why, yeahBalance is the key but I take it to extremes
I can think of all the ways
But I can't find the means when the world dictates
I'll never get what I need open up my eyes, maybe I'll see thatLooking for someone, yeah
I'm looking for someone who feels like I do
Looking for someone, yeah
Looking for someone who feels like I do
Feels like I do, feels like I do, oh yeah
