I Lost All Love 4 You

Delta Goodrem

when you walked into my life with your muddy shoes on and your baggage claim ticket one night I thought it'd be ok because there was something about you that made me feel somehow safe
I gave too much to you, you took it all away and finally I had no more to give so don't try to come back and break me down I am standing so much stronger now
I have lost my love
I have lost my love
I have lost my love for you every little bit, every part of it
there is nothing more to do
I have lost my faith
I have lost my faith in everything you said was true
when the dust has settled down
I realise I lost the love for you I lost my belief in your tired excuses and the reasons why you weren't there I cried myself to sleep and now i'm back on my feet I don't need anything more from you so go and live your life, find another wife take her to that stupid restaurant you like
I have lost my love
I have lost my love

I have lost my love for you
every little bit every part of it
there is nothing more to do
I have lost my faith
I have lost my faith in everything you said was true
when the dust has settled down
I realise I lost the love for you it's the same old story now my life before me is beautiful and it's waiting for me cause I found myself yeah I found myself so I'll learn a lot from you I will never change, not for someone else my own woman through and through
I have lost my love
I have lost my love

I have lost my love for you
every little bit, every part of it
there is nothing more to do
I have lost my faith
I have lost my faith, in everything you said was true cause when the dust has settled down
I realise I lost the love for you
I lost the love for you
