Lungs

Mike Dignam

Listen close, before my words are froze
Numbness is setting in
Keep control and just breathe slow
There's not long before I have to goYour fragile frame
Can't take this pain I know
If you're losing grip
There's one thing you should knowIf you're suffocating and my lungs will save you,
I'll give my dying breath
I hope you'd take it
If it means I don't make it
I'd rather drown, knowing you're safe and soundWhen love was young and we were strong
It felt like i gave you life
Now we're pulled by the tide
On separate sides
But the water that connects us remainsEach time we try
We always end up sinking
Two can survive on one air supplyIf you're suffocating and my lungs will save you,
I'll give my dying breath
I hope you'd take it
If it means I don't make it
I'd rather drown, knowing you're safe and soundThere's no time left for us so go
Don't think just leave me here on my own
Be honest with yourself, there's nothing left here
We can't change where faith has brought us
We can't be saved from these watersIf you're suffocating and my lungs will save you,
I'll give my dying breath
I hope you'd take it
If it means I don't make it
I'd rather drown, knowing you're safe and sound (x3)
