

Isolation

Nighthawk22

You arrive like a dragonfly
Float above the grass, trembling still
Think you might open up your heart
Open up your heart, someday you will
    Yes, there's always a way
    Yes, there's always a way
        To end this isolation
    When you rise like the Milky Way
    On a luminous night the epic unknown
        Though I try, try to find a sign
        Of another life, I am alone
        And there's always a way
        Yes, there's always a way
        To end this isolation
    One step away from everyone
        If you could open it up
        You could connect it to us
    One step is more than enough
        To get a look in
        You could be already gone
    I wish you would take me along
        To end this isolation
        To end this isolation
    I try so hard to get it right
    Look for something in your eyes
        And I see it
    But you won't let yourself feel it
        I wait for you to make a sign
        Let the door open in your eyes
        And I believe it
    That one day you'll step inside
