

Out In the Open (From Simple Things)

Amy Grant

They were the sweetest words I'd ever heard
My heart could barely take it in
Like water offered to the lips
Of a tired and thirsty man'cause it's a tangled web of woven
I don't know all the reasons
But it amazes me to wake up
To your mercy every morning So I'm standing here spinning around
In the fields of freedom
And I'm still alive and reaching out
And I can feel the healing'cause you say
Come on out come on out
Come on out come on out
Out in the open
Come on out come on out
Come on out come on out
Into the light
There is no jury
There is no judge
Ready and waiting
Are the steady arms of love 124 For the sake of never making waves I
Kept my secrets to myself
And no one ever really knew the
Darker shadows of my heart But I will be a witness
That there's nothing in me dark enough
The power of forgiveness
Cannot rescue from the deep So I'm standing here spinning around
In the fields of freedom
And I'm still alive and reaching out
And I can feel the healing And you say
Come on out come out
Come on out come out
Out in the open
Come on out come on out
Come on out come on out
Into the light
There is no jury
There is no judge
Ready and waiting
Are a steady arms of love 240 Hey

And I'm standing here spinning around
In the fields of freedom
And I'm still alive
And reaching out
And I can feel the healing Come on out come on out
Come on out come on out
Out in the open
Come on out come on out
Come on out come on out
Into the light
There is no jury
There is no judge
Ready a

Songwriters

EATON, CHRIS/GILL, AMY GRANT Published by

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>