Old Blind Dogs

Fourteen shades to summer nights we were shadowed by your lightcause you and I were never faithfulI hold you up so you can fall you never seemed to care at allcause you and I were never faithfuldon't count me out, you've waited now this needs to be the way the sun will fadeI need you to feel this way with scars outlast the pain and nothing seems to stay the same and you were never made that way when all of this seemed real just not todaysober thoughts begin to go those who waited for your fall no one needs to feel that helplessdon't count me out, you've waited now
just not todayno, the more we change our lives with the feelings left inside that just won't go awayI need you to feel this way with scars outlast the pain
just not todayI need you to feel this way I need you to feel this way
just not today
