Ode To the Summer

Syd Arthur

I look to the sky with sunken eyes
For the feeling of summer has left me behind
Out there this jungle it creeps and then it turns
Your vision lies hidden until your returnWinter coat, frozen toe, the rain is pouring
So what you know, the night go cold,
Did you make the most of it?Owe to the sumer this feeling
And be sure to remember me
I need to know that you'll come back After winter's rested in spring honey, met you not in this cold lied
I'm not ready for you to go, no, no
Hold on untill tomorrow
one more day or twoSunken foot, frozen toe, the rains is pouring
As winter calls, nature shouts
"The summer must send her"
So what you know, the night go cold
Did you make the most of it
Oh, great clounds are forming in the skies to the east
