Everyone Is Wrong

The Donnas

Don't look at me and say my name
And try to tell me it's all the same
Take a song and make it all wrong
Then expect us to get alongWell, I know something you don't know
(You don't know)
Well, I knew it all alongThat a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go, tell everybody that everyone is wrongNow, you want us to sing for you
Don't you know that's not what we do?
Make it up and pretend you're right
So you'll come to the show tonightWell, I know something you don't know
(You don't know)
Well, I knew it all alongThat a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go, tell everybody that everyone is wrongSince when am I your new best friend?
You wanna buy me a drink?
I'd rather have it in inkIf I don't laugh and make you look good
And talk about your morning wood
Ride off my sweat and years
'Cause you're busy with your beersNow, I know something you don't know
(You don't know)
Well, I knew it all alongThat a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go, tell everybody that everyone is wrongSo you think that you can ruin me?
That part got through to me
Go tell everybody that everyone is wrong
