Goodbye

Slowtide

so how could I describe my state? so cold at heart yet so afraid how suddenly the spring decayed... a simple word could bring a twist of fate how could I tell somebody?

I won't tell nobody, about you
no I won't tell nobody,
I won't tell nobody about you

every now and then I tried to achieve what you denied I thought I knew where I belong but again you proved me wrong

every now and then I tried
to achieve what you denied
I thought I knew where I belong

the sky reveals a blood-red moon and time is getting short too soon this love has reached the afternoon and flowers dried that used to grow and bloom

how could I tell somebody?
I won't tell nobody, about you
no I won't tell nobody,
I won't tell nobody about you

every now and then I tried
to achieve what you denied
I thought I knew where I belong
but again you proved me wrong

every now and then I tried
to achieve what you denied a step into a bad mistake the foolish pride you can't forsake Lyrics submitted by Kevin.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/