To My Beloved One

Silentium

How could I even speak of love
My dear, before I held ye
In the arms of mine?In thy beloved arms
I'll drown myself to rest
And upon your ivory skin
My dreams will softly driftNo sweeter touch
From the angels wing
As the tender kiss
Yer lips gave to meIn thy beloved arms
My dear, I'll drown
My deepest fearAnd as we watch
The sun pass a sleep
Nay sound from the forest
Just a tender weepHere, my beloved one
Here is my heaven
Angel beside me
And her eyes to drown inIn thy beloved arms, my dear
I kin I can't forever be but this moment
How short the time could be
It is forever, a sweet infinity to me
