Days End

The Lorax Tree

We should scream, 'Thank You' with every waking breath
And cry 'Mercy, Mercy' at every days end
Yet we remain quiet and comfortable in our A to B lives
We're so quiet and comfortable in our A to B livesOur complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep, sweep, sweep our sleep, sleep, sleeping hearts
Our complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep our sleeping heartsIt is then when we will cry for forgiveness
Yet not understand the weight of our words
Nor the depth of his love but he will deliver, failure is beneath him
And yes, he will deliver, failure's not an optionOur complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep, sweep, sweep our sleep, sleep, sleeping hearts
Our complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep our sleepWake, wake the complacent
Hey you, yeah, you
And will the weak of mind is to warn theWake, wake the complacent
Hey you, yeah, you
And will the weak of mind is to warn the w-w-wicked
It's quite urgentOur complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep, sweep, sweep our sleep, sleep, sleeping hearts
Our complacency won't last much longer
An urgency will sweep our sleeping heartsUntil that day I will laugh, dance and sing
For I know that, that day is soon to be seen

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/