Wicked Man

Ben Harper

And now children come running to the truth
But you've got to peel the skin to get the fruit
But while one's living high another's grieving
But what's sweet by morning is bitter by the evening
Oh what's sweet by morning is bitter by the evening
So the wicked, oh the wicked
Oh the wicked man shall now fall
Oh, the wicked, oh the wicked
The wicked man shall now fall
Now when the moon chase away the sun
Oh and cause my day to run
I will not fear the darkest night
For I know upon the other side is light
Oh on the other side is light
Oh now the wicked, oh the wicked
Oh the wicked man shall now fall
Oh all the wicked, oh the wicked

The wicked man shall fall
Every man is a common man
And every common man has his plan
But while the hungry man seek any food in sight
Oh the greedy man seek only appetite
Oh the greedy man seek only appetite
Now the wicked, oh the wicked
Oh the wicked man shall now fall
Oh the wicked, oh the wicked
The wicked man shall fall
Oh the wicked man shall fall
Oh the wicked, the wicked
Oh the wicked man shall fall
Fall, fall, fall, fall
Wicked man, wicked man, oh, fall
