Disclosure

Dark Side Cowboys

They say you shouldn't be smiling at all
They offend you, shock you, hit you right between the eyes
And your words remain untrue for the ecstasy of adventure
Will my belief in love be result of some independence
So fear the explanation of your hate
And feel the expectation of my fate
You're told to hesitate in moral and love
You're told to believe in judgement and Gods up above
Illegitimate reasons influence your mind
It takes patience and cool to put up with a palmer to perfectionism
So fear the explanation of your hate
And feel the expectation of my fate
They won't support, admit, approve or feel compassion
It's easy to be lured to participate in the game
Prosperity will carry you to hights beyond imagination
But don't come crawling to me with your conscience
So fear the explanation of your hate
And feel the expectation of my fate

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/