When The Leaves Come Falling Down

Van Morrison

I saw you standing with the wind and the rain in your face
And you were thinking 'bout the wisdom of the leaves and their grace
When the leaves come falling down
In September, when the leaves come falling downAnd at night the moon is shining on a clear cloudless sky
And when the evening shadows fall, I'll be there by your side
When the leaves come falling down
In September, when the leaves come falling downFollow me down, follow me down, follow me down
To the place beside the garden and the wall
Follow me down, follow me down
To the space before the twilight and the dawnOh, the last time I saw, Paris in the streets, in the rain
And as I walk along the boulevards with you, once again
And the leaves come falling down
In September, when the leaves, leaves come falling downFollow me down, follow me down, follow me down
To the place between the garden and the wall
Follow me down, follow me down
To the space between the twilight and the dawnAnd as I'm looking at the color of the leaves in your hand
As we're listening to Chet Baker on the beach in the sand
When the leaves come falling down
Oh, on September, when the leaves come falling down
Oh, when the leaves come falling down
Yeah, in September, when the leaves come falling downWhen the leaves come falling down
In September, when the leaves, leaves come falling down
When the leaves come falling down in September, in the rain
When the leaves come falling downWhen the leaves come falling down in September, in the rain
When the leaves come falling down
