Christy

Natalie Prass

Christy
A name that isn't too short or too sweet
Christy
Why compare my love to yours if we both know he adores
You Christy
There's a shadow of a smile in your eye / You're the shadow that hangs
Christy
There's an echo of a kiss stolen from a man I swore I wouldn't have to miss
Oh Christy
Oh why does it have to be
That she can take the hand of anyone she meets
Still the only one she sees belongs to me, oh Christy Does he
Slide each of his fingers down your back
When he
When Places a record on I know he always comes on strong
Oh Christy
I can tell you anything he likes
Christy
It's so wrong I'll still be here when all your love for him is gone
Oh Christy
Oh why does it have to be
That she can take the hand of anyone she meets
Still the only one she sees belongs to me
Oh Christy
His dreams aren't the only ones you haunt
I never dreamt this day would come oh Christy
oh Christy
