One Thing Led to Another

Mila Mason

One grain of sand don't make a desert
A drop in the ocean is too hard to measure
One little lie doesn't mean you're a liar
One puff of smoke doesn't mean there's a fireSo how could a mountain of love disappear?
A little bit there, a little bit hereOh, one thing led to another
One night at a time, we lost each other
You're workin' late, she called again
A couple of drinks, she's just your friend
What's the harm? Oh, one thing led to another's armsYou'd fall into bed, too tired to hold me
A couple of rumors, some nobody told me
The first time your touch was just not the same
The night you blew up when I said her nameI closed my eyes to the tears on my face
But finally the pieces just fell into placeOh, one thing led to another
One night at a time, we lost each other
You're workin' late, he called again
A couple of drinks, he's just my friend
What's the harm? Oh, one thing led to another's arms
Oh, one thing led to another's arms

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/