Avoid The Friction

Diffuser

My generation as nation has a reputation for looking out for themselves
Obnoxious and self-righteous
I realize the warning sings are so alive since I heard
Your friends have been talking shit
And now you bite your lipDon't tell me to avoid the friction
I'm one step closer to infliction
Why are your actions contradictive
Of the words that you sayI've seen your kind a million times and still I find the one thing
That you could never get around
The repercussion turns you out
Your ignorance and arrogance ignite a tolerance
That pushes me to react
I think your better watch your backSo typical to say the words you say
Then shuffle around the blame
I think you better walk away
Before I get in your face
