Irukandji

Park

Pose for me, revealing every inch of your body
It goes to show your true love tones were so shallow
Stave off the option, this ugly infection
Says to me your anything of desireSmile for me, revealing something of and pretty
Your perfect skin can't shake the sight that you're lacking
Overall it's just the way you are
Underneath, your belly hides the scars of who you really areTake me away from skin that won't hum but glows
I'll be okay, don't let them injure you
Further away, smile, you can't help but show
Somewhere, someday, don't let them injure youSuch a shame that on that day
Your looks began to fade
To be ordinary yet understanding, ordinary yet understanding
Your skin won't amount to shit when it's deep in the dirtWait for me for I can show you something appealing
Goes against your true love tones but you're hollow
Hold your arms, I will hold her legsAnd with that began to cut away
The phase that make her oh so pretty
To be just a stump when I'm done with this plotTake me away from skin that won't hum but glows
I'll be okay, don't let them injure you
Further away, smile, you can't help but show
Somewhere, someday, don't let them injure youTake me away from skin that won't hum but glows
I'll be okay, don't let them injure you
Further away, smile, you can't help but show
Somewhere, someday, don't let them injure you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/