Right Here

Carmen Reece

You don't ever wanna see my face again
But inside you know that it's never gonna end
Bitter memories tell me
That you can't help yourself for hurting me again
I can rationalize
You're different 'cos you've changed, you know what you have now
But how can I tell
I break down but I've never seen your tears
I talk straight but your words are never clear
If what you're looking for is someone you can hide from
Well, I'm right here, I'm right here
No matter what you said, I don't listen to a word
I know you by now and how you love me sometimes hurts
I can take the pain
As long as there's someone waiting at the end
I believe you're running
From something you can't see and I know it's not me
But how, how can I tell
I break down but I've never seen your tears
I talk straight but you words are never clear
If what you're looking for is someone you can hide from
Well, I'm right here, I'm right here
Bitter memories tell me
That you can't help yourself from hurting me again
But I can rationalize
You're different 'cos you've changed, you know what you have now
But how can I tell
I break down but I've never seen your tears
I talk straight but your words are never clear
If what you're looking for is someone you can hide from
I'm right here, I'm right here
