Clear day

KLIM Beats

Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window and it's making me rise
Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window and it's filling my eyes
Wake up in the morning with the sunshine
Through my window you know it looks alright
It looks alright.I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything I see the things that you do
I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything and I see you laughing too
I may be tired but I'm laughing
In everything you know it feels alright
It's alright.I used to worry about just where I was going to
But today it is all clear.Because the fog has lifted and I can see Something better than I've seen before
Because the fog has lifted and I can see
Something better and it's opened my door
Because the fog has lifted and I can see
Something better and it's alright
It's alright.I used to worry about just where I was going to
But today it is all clear.I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me where to put my feet
I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me that it's nearly complete
I can feel something alive inside of me
Telling me it's gonna be alright
