Right On Time

Spencer & Hill

It?s not my nature to be patient; I jump every river I cross.
Not much for following the sensible size, I can?t count the times I?ve been lost.
Because you can?t see where you?re going in the pouring rain, when you?re running into walls, feeling no pain.
We all owe dues to the devil, I?ve paid mine.
Took a while to get here but I?m right on time.
I don?t regret a single moment; it?s been one hell of a ride.
I count myself among the fortunate ones, made it to the other side.

Yeah you go what you go through to get where you are.
Lucky for me, I didn?t go too far.
I turned around before the end of the line, took a while to get here but I?m right on time.
No, you can?t see where you?re going in the pouring rain, when you?re running into walls, feeling no pain.
We all owe dues to the devil and I?ve sure paid mine.
Took a while to get here but I?m right on time.
Took a while to get here but I?m right on time.
