Couldn't Care Less About

Evan & Jaron

I wonder how the morning came last night
I went insane
I threw some things, I smashed some things
What happens next, I haven't figured out yetI'm not quite sure what drove me to the madness
Bringing on my dark side
Was it me? Was it you and your obnoxious friends
Who made me feel defenseless?Couldn't care less about
The things you'll think when I walk out
Couldn't care less about what happens now
I couldn't care less about
The psycho-babble from your mouth
I don't think I care enough to careTripped on your diploma
Who knows what could be this Spring?
Bringing, just bringing to the moon
Somewhere on a country road probably killing me
Under broken things you found your wings
GoodbyeI couldn't care less about
The things you'll think when I walk out
Couldn't care less about what happens now
I couldn't care less about
The psycho-babble from your mouth
I don't think I care enough to careRight now, you've reached the mountain
Deny yourself the fountains at exit 41
Gold-blue cavern that hides the sun so wellI couldn't care less about
The things that you're thinking, you're thinking when I walk out
I couldn't care less about what happens now
I couldn't care less about
The things you'll think when I walk out
Couldn't care less about what happens nowI couldn't care less about
The psycho-babble from your mouth
Don't think I care enough to care, to care
Oh, I couldn't care less about
The things you'll think when I walk out
Couldn't care less about what happens now, what happens now
What happens now
