The Master's Eyes

Van Morrison

How the light shone from the master
How the light shone from the master
How the light shone from the master's eyesOh how the truth shone, from the master
How the truth shone, from the master
How the truth shone, from the master's eyesWhy didn't they leave us to wander through battered summers
Why didn't they leave us to wander when there was no otherAnd my questions all were answered
When the light shone from the master
When the light shone, from the master's eyes
