Disconnected

Rancid

Where's my girl where has she gone she once was beautiful and innocent I can't believe in what she says I look at her and she looked the other wayDisconnected from feeling alright Disconnected and it ain't black and white Disconnected there's a sword through the dove Disconnected from the country I loveI remember you when you we young and strong in your summer dress and your legs so long my memories are only for me I prefer them to realityDisconnected from feeling alright Disconnected and it ain't black and
white Disconnected there's a sword
through the dove Disconnected from the country I loveYou think it was over but you better think again neither grace nor sweetness just malicious intent it's you and me baby so we better watch our back cause if we are standing together we ain't never gonna crack and we took the greyhound into the night with the city on the left and the country on the right i knew when i saw you i read it in your eyes i heard your voiced break when you were trying not to dieDisconnected from feeling alright Disconnected and it ain't black and
white Disconnected there's a sword
through the dove Disconnected from the country I love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/