

Counting Stars

Rhianna LaRocque

everything ive ever done has gone back to me don't know where to go, but i'll figure it out eventually. these stones i throw, don't seem to sink, but i know to find a way home sooner than you think and im counting stars again, just to pass the time and im counting stars again baby, wishing i can have made you mine,, if you ever say to say those things too me i dont care cause youve got plenty time to think out here in the middle in the middle of know where and this road we seem to walk on seems to go on and on for miles before the life of me i can't remember your face, your smile

and im counting stars again, just to pass the time and im counting stars again, baby wishing i could have made you mine,

if you ask me to remember i promice i wont forget
if you ask me to remember
i promice i will not forget

and im counting stars again, just to pass the time and im counting stars again, baby wishing i could have made you mi- ine,

---

Lyrics submitted by sam.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>